Honourable Chief Minister of Maharashtra, Shri Devendra Fadnavis today inaugurated Project ‘Serve Safe Food’, a programme by Nestlé India in collaboration with Food and Drugs Administration (FDA), Maharashtra and NASVI. The project will train the street food vendors in the state of Maharashtra through a mobile van on important and critical subjects like health, hygiene, safe food handling, waste disposal and entrepreneurship with the support of the FDA Maharashtra. Along with food safety, the aim is to help enhance the livelihoods of street food vendors across the state. Project ‘Serve Safe Food’ has already benefitted close to 5000 street food vendors across India since its launch in November 2016 and will benefit an additional 35000 street food vendors across the state of Maharashtra.

Speaking on the occasion, Shri Devendra Fadnavis, Hon’ble Chief Minister, Government of Maharashtra said, “If we can make street food vendors aware of the importance of food safety and hygiene it will lead to a brighter future for them. This initiative is a great way to not only ensure healthy food for consumers but also enable street food vendors to sustain better livelihoods.” Dr Pallavi Darade, Commissioner, FDA Maharashtra added, “In today’s environment, “Food Safety” & “Hygiene” plays a key role especially with street food vendors for which training attains paramount importance. This initiative between Maharashtra FDA and Nestlé India becomes vital.” Dr. Swati Pramesh, Director on the Board, Nestlé India and Vice Chairperson, Firimal Enterprises Limited said, “Enhancing livelihoods and ensuring safe food is at the core of Nestlé India’s societal initiatives. This training programme will enable street food vendors to serve clean and hygienic food. This initiative will go a long way in improving the livelihood of street food vendors and ensuring that food served to people is safe and healthy.”

Nagpur, 31 March: Maharashtra’s state government has launched the ‘Serve Safe Food’ project. This initiative aims to ensure safe food at food stalls across the state. The project will involve the establishment of a food stall safety inspection (FSI) system, which will be operational in all the food stalls across the state. The government has set a target to achieve 5,000 stalls by December 2016. The FSI system will ensure that the food stalls meet the required safety standards.

The project is a part of the state government’s efforts to improve the quality of food and ensure the safety of the people.

The state government has also initiated a campaign to educate the public about the importance of food safety. The campaign includes the distribution of leaflets and other materials to raise awareness about the risks associated with consuming unsafe food.

The government has urged the people to support the project and ensure that the food stalls they visit meet the required safety standards.

Dr. Swati Prasad, Director on the Board, Nestlé India and Vice-Chairperson, Nestlé Enterprises Limited said, “Enhancing livelihoods and ensuring safe food is at the core of Nestlé India’s social initiatives. This training programme will enable street food vendors to learn safe and hygienic food; the initiative will get a long way in improving the livelihood of street food vendors and ensuring nestle food served to people is safe and healthy.”

Sanjiv Narayan, Chairman and Managing Director, Nestlé India, added, “We want to build and share knowledge through collaborative partnerships to help improve food safety in the country. We would sincerely like to thank the Government of Maharashtra and FDA for supporting this initiative and enabling all the participants to get trained.”

According to Arindam Singh, National Coordinator, NHM, Nestlé has a vast number of street food vendors and the training program will help increase their income and promote a healthier lifestyle. FDA also updates the data of trained street food vendors on the GHDDI/ENTITY which promotes street food vending and helps them obtain their livelihoods of choice.”

Nestlé starts Serve Safe Food in Maharashtra: Unveils Milkybar Wowsomes

Thursday, 29 March, 2018, 08 : 00 AM (IST)

One Bandra, Mumbai

Panhara, nestlé global operations India’s managing director, Nestlé India, unveiled its Project Serve Safe Food (Safeti), a programme to train the street food vendors of the state, till May 2018, in the presence of Minister for Small Industries, Food Processing, and Consumer Affairs, Maharashtra, Pramod Sawant.

A Nestlé India team will conduct milk production and safety audits on food vendors to make them aware of food safety, and train them in how to prepare and serve food in a hygienic manner.

Nestlé has already conducted over 500 such audits and trained the vendors.

According to Pramod Sawant, "This initiative is useful to raise the standard of food served in street food stalls and to improve the health and hygiene standards in the street food industry. The programme will help create a hygiene and safety awareness among the vendors, which is a must for the safety and health of the consumers."
